

UCR Task Force on the California Gender Recognition Act

The Gender Recognition Act (California Senate Bill 179) officially went into effect January 1, 2019. The bill streamlines the process for Californians to apply to change their gender markers, and creates a nonbinary gender category (the letter "x") on California birth certificates, drivers' licenses, identity cards, and gender-change court orders. This law provides an opportunity for our campus to update language and policies to be more inclusive of transgender, intersex, and nonbinary members of the UCR community.

Chancellor Wilcox asked Associate Vice Chancellor for Diversity and Inclusion, Mariam Lam, to lead a task force to examine current use of gender in systems across the campus, and to advise senior leadership on steps to incorporate a nonbinary category into these systems.

This process has included:

1. Reviewing campus data systems, report templates, surveys/assessments, physical spaces, and policy language
2. Implementing inclusive changes to systems, policies and customer service practices
3. Recommending training and resources to ensure appropriate implementation.

The task force has essentially completed its work, and is now following up with specific departments as needed to provide consultation and training as they implement the recommendations.

Gender Recognition Act Task Force FAQ

1. Are there templates and models of appropriate gender categories that we can see to apply to our existing documents and policies?

Yes, there are useful resources and examples on the task force website: <https://chancellor.ucr.edu/chancellors-task-force-california-gender-recognition-act>. In general, the DMV and the UC system will be providing the options of M = male, F = female, X = nonbinary.

2. Are there any workshops or trainings we can attend to help us understand the changes and better inform ourselves toward creating a more gender inclusive campus?

- Online Training: "Gender Recognition: A Focus on Transgender, Nonbinary, and Intersex Awareness." Go to <https://ucrllearning.ucr.edu/> and search for "Gender Recognition."
- Quarterly in-person workshop: "Creating a Trans-Inclusive Work Environment" that you may register to attend via the UCR Learning Center web site. The next trainings will be held in Fall 2019. This 2-hour workshop will increase your knowledge of gender identity and expression, diversity within the transgender community, and current UC and government resources, policies, and laws. We will address both staff and faculty concerns and provide communication skills and action tips for creating a more trans-inclusive campus and workplace.
- In-person presentation and Q&A by emailing Nancy Jean Tubbs at nancy.tubbs@ucr.edu.

3. What was supposed to be completed by January 1, 2019?

The Act became enforceable by law on January 1, 2019, so we can now expect official IDs and birth certificates to have the nonbinary option. We anticipate that it may take the campus the rest of the year and beyond to gradually update all units across campus, and that initially, we will learn on a case by case basis new areas that need improvement and updating. We recommend that as each unit proceeds with its daily activities, each document/policy/facility that is addressed be reviewed as it appears. Thus, by the end of one full annual cycle, a unit may be somewhat confident that it has addressed and reviewed the regular policies/documents/facilities most frequently used by that unit.

4. Are we responsible for updating data systems?

Central data systems, such as UC undergraduate admissions, Banner, and UC Path, will be administered and updated centrally as they come online. However, if your own department/unit maintains internal applications and databases, such as for graduate recruitment, etc., please do update those within your units directly.

5. What can I do when I hear dismissive comments of this process from others?

Since most individuals who initially react dismissively do so because they do not thoroughly understand the underlying goals, issues and ramifications, they may benefit from additional education and resources, such as the trainings.

6. Where are gender-inclusive restrooms located on campus?

To find gender-inclusive restrooms, visit the UCR campus map and zoom in until you see the circle-triangle symbol. Click on the symbol and room number details will become visible on the left-hand side of the window. ADA-compliant facilities information is also available on the UCR campus map.
